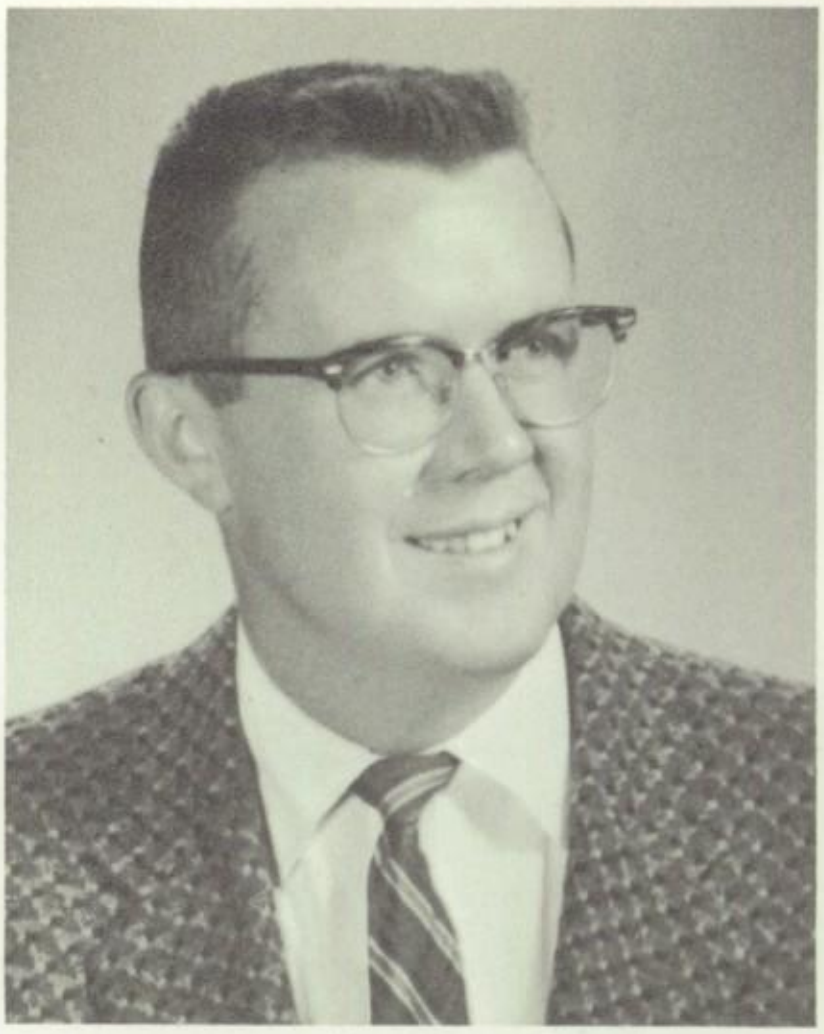
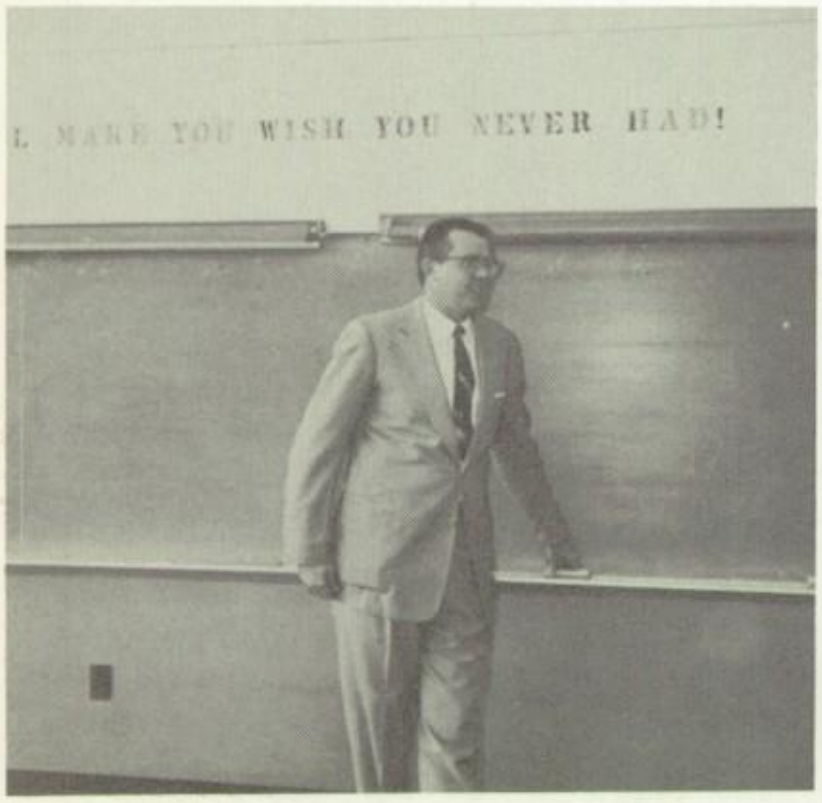
Dedication



Mr. McDonough was born in Pittsburgh and he attended Swissvale High School. He graduated from Clarion State Teachers College. At Richland, his work includes teaching problems of democracy, driver education, and coaching the tennis team. We hope Mr. McDonough remains at Richland for many years, so that future classes will have the pleasure of knowing him.

We leave Richland with the memory of many wonderful moments. Thank you, Mr. McDonough, for your contribution to our past and our future.



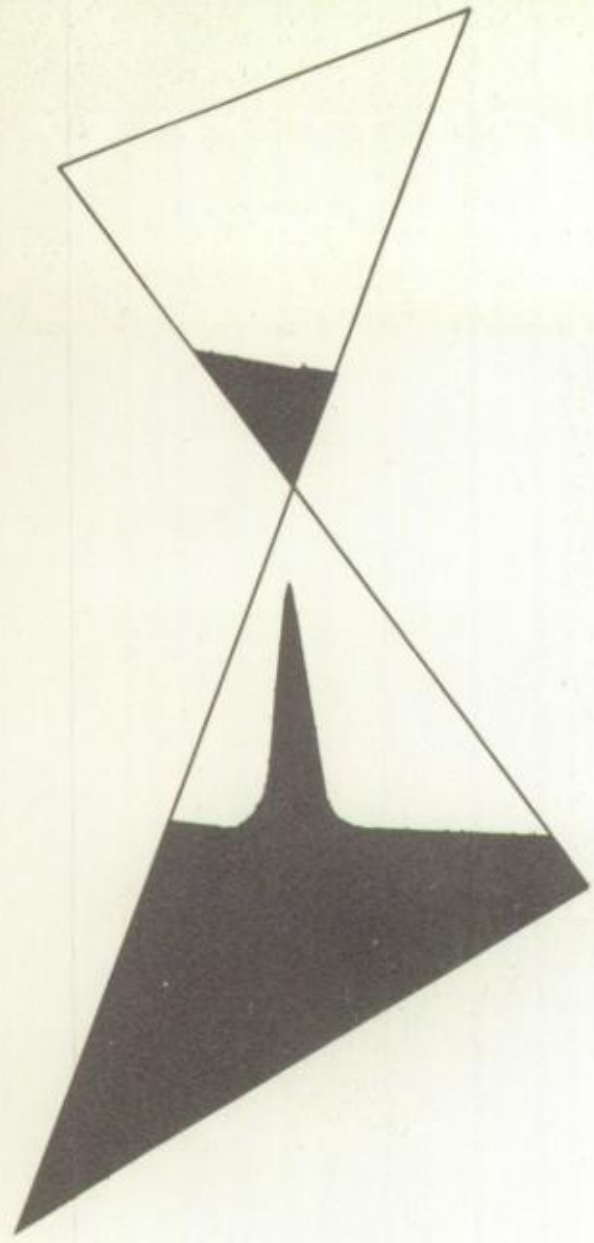
To you, Mr. McDonough, we dedicate our yearbook. The graduating class of 1960 is indebted to you for your work as a teacher, your guidance as a sponsor, and your friendship and interest toward everyone of us.

The Building speaks . . .

With The Building

I am dedicated to you, the graduating student.
My teachers have educated you.
My clubs have knitted you closely together.
My sports have infused you with the spirit of sportsmanship and team co-operation.
I have built your dreams, witnessed your disappointments, nourished your desires, shaped your principles.
What I have done for you can never be undone, but it can be wasted.
I have given my gifts and the only return I ask is that you use them to their fullest.

Richland High School



FACULTY

Behind the still, stern look of their faces, the sharpness of their criticism, the wealth of their lectures, lies the heart of the Faculty.

Always ready to guide each student through difficulties, to advise with problems, to help pick up the pieces should they fall.

Sympathetic, patient, strict, lenient, kind, forceful, and generous are they.

They have given you the base on which you stand.

They have helped you organize clubs, coach teams, and choose your life's work.

Their hearts beat out a life devoted to you.

K. Dwight Troutman

Principal

During your last month of school, as you prepared for commencement activities, I am sure that you were aware of mixed feelings. You realized a sense of accomplishment because a long-sought and awaited goal had been reached, and you were saddened by the realization that many cherished friendships would be terminated.

Mingled with this sense of accomplishment and feeling of sadness were thoughts of the future. I am certain that many of you, as you thought about the future, were aware of the newness of the life you are entering upon. It is my sincerest wish that you, the first graduating class to receive four years of education at Richland High School, will be secure in this newness; and that, as the years pass, whenever you pause and meditate along life's way, you will feel that the training and knowledge received at Richland High School helped shape your lives and make them successful and fruitful.

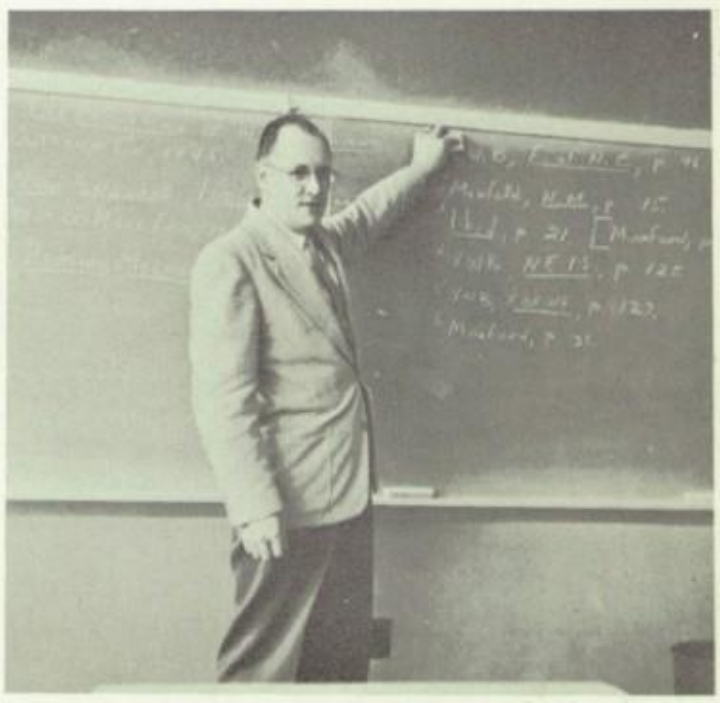
In Appreciation

Mrs. Sally Dolmayer

We, the graduating class of 1960, would like to express our appreciation to Mrs. Dolmayer, Mr. Dilts, Mr. Lewis, and Mr. Storkel for everything that they have done for us in our high school years at Richland. They will always be remembered, not only for the subjects they taught, but for the guidance and help they have given us in so many ways. Their actions and assistance will always be a part of our memories. For this, the Seniors would like to say. . . . .

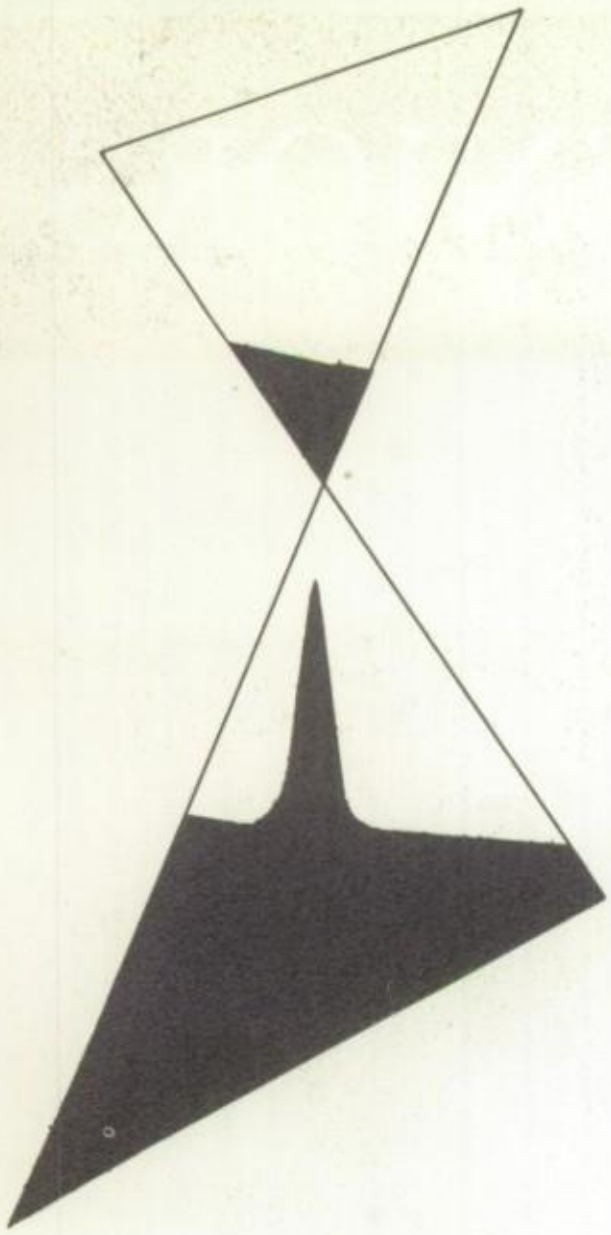
Mr. Stephen Storkel

Mr. Richard Dilts



Mr. Robert Lewis

Thank you



SENIORS

These are the ones to whom I have given my all.
My tender care has carried them now to the summit, the finish, the end.
They can never forget what I have added to their lives.
Without it, where would they be?
But with it, how high will they rise?
They have taken my gifts and they leave me satisfied, knowing they will not waste, but rather will use them wisely.
They have striven for superiority and met the challenge of opposition.
They have felt the heartbeat of my faculty.
I send them forth with enduring friendships, learning, pride and sportsmanship.
But most of all, they send themselves forth to great accomplishment.

Class of 1960

R. Lang, pres. J. Fusca, v.-pres.

S. Moran, treas. J. Latham, sec.

This was the year of newness for us: new faces, new building, new teachers, and a new experience—high school. We entered our new life with zest. We participated in athletics and joined school clubs; some of us were members of the first Student Council. But even with all the excitement, there was the never-ending school work. Even that had a quality of newness: foreign languages were new, shop and home economics were required, and some of us had math with crazy x's and y's in it instead of numerals.

Our sophomore year was a little more organized. For the first time we had sponsors, Miss Oliver, and Mr. Bresnicky, and officers. We had enough foresight to realize that we would have to finance a prom the next year, so we began to think of money-raising projects. After much discussion we decided on a bake sale and a dance. This was the year that biology was the main topic of discussion. How well we remember the "operations" we performed!

Our junior year began with a sponsor change, as Miss Oliver had become Mrs. Bresnicky. We got our rings that fall. Then we faced the problem of financing our prom. We had a magazine campaign as our first project, then there was our annual bake sale and the dance after the Hampton basketball game. The May Court was chosen from our class. Six of our boys and nine girls were members. Finally the prom was held May 22, at Pitt Wildwood Country Club . . . . the scene of a wonderful time.

The last year, our senior year, was a mixture of all things: fun, laughter, hard work, laziness, apprehension, and a little regret. Here were school work, extra-curricular activities, and social activities—sometimes in overabundance. Mr. McDonough and Mrs. Wackenhut had taken over sponsorship of our class. We spent a great deal of our time in the guidance office. We applied to colleges, prepared for jobs, or planned for our future in some way. When we graduated, we were ready, thanks to the never-ending help of faculty and friends.

Alma Mater

Here's to you, our Alma Mater

Long may you see

Memories of happy moments

Shared eternally

We revere thee, serve thee ever,

Now our words will tell

Here's to you, our Richland High School,

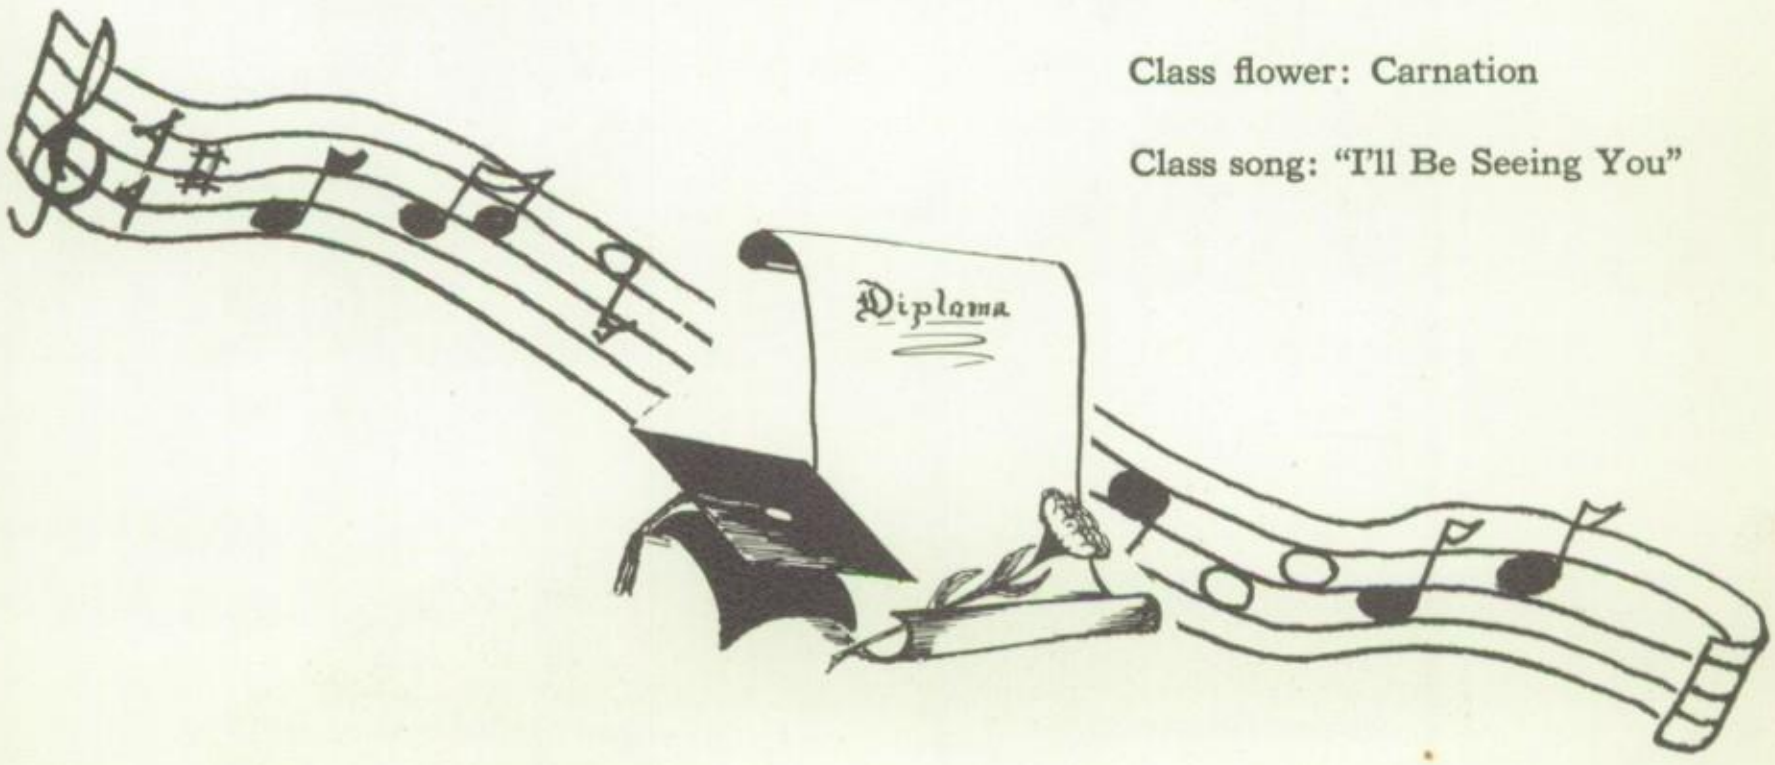
Richland hail, all hail!

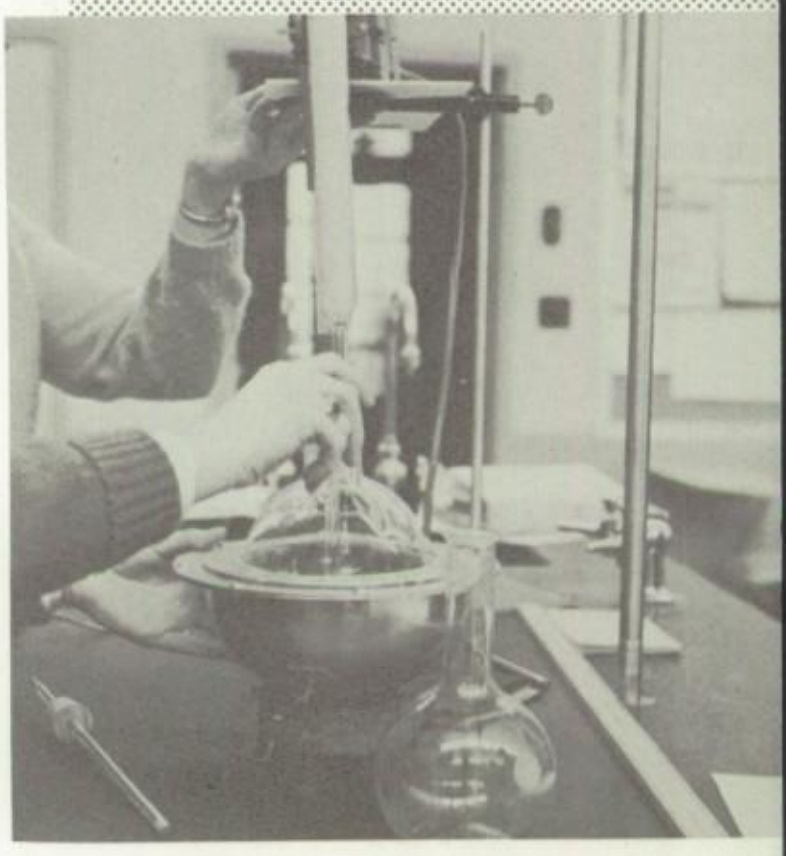
Class motto: Nothing is impossible to a willing heart.

Class colors: Blue and white

Class flower: Carnation

Class song: "I'll Be Seeing You"





UNDERCLASSMEN

These are the dreamers, uncertain of the future, lost in the world of the unknown.

Shyly they grow; timidly, they rise; suddenly, they awake.

Life is theirs to use, and they use it.

Beginning as a massive unit they slowly break away and become individuals, strong-willed, determined, young.

Patiently they wait, each minute loving a little more the small world of their school.

Not just any school, mind you, but Richland High School.

They wait, and dream, and one day, they too will succeed.

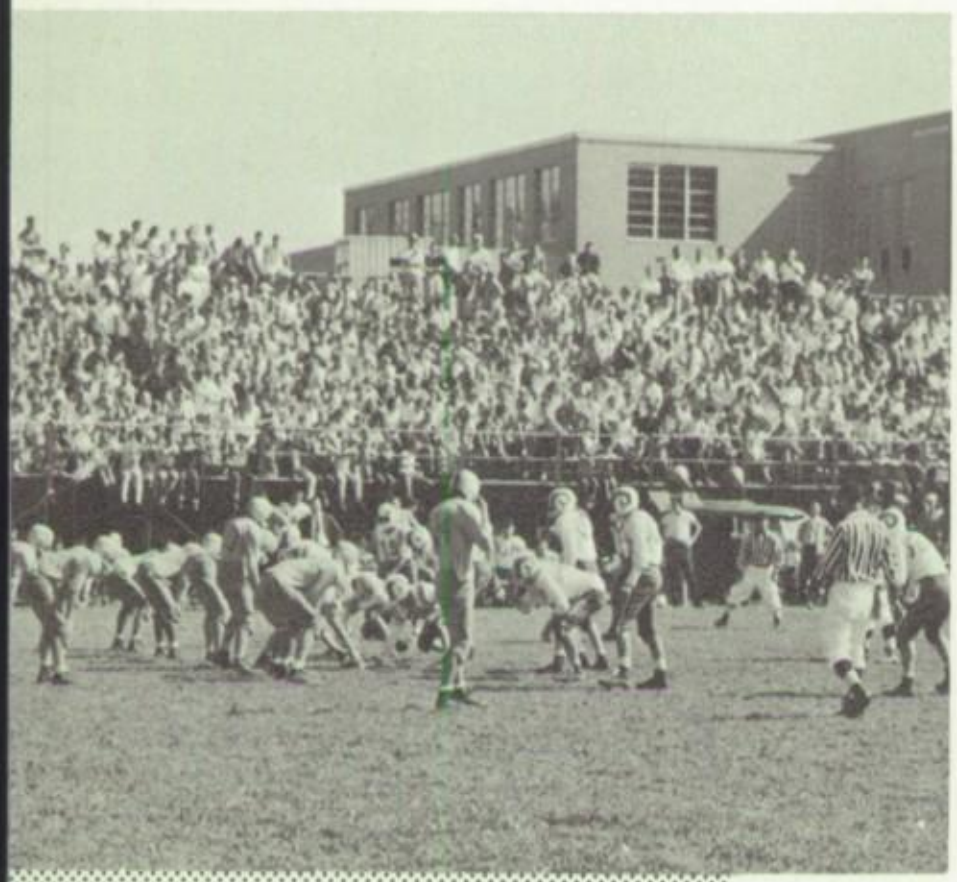
SPORTS



The spirit of competition, the striving for superiority, the challenge of opposition—these are the gifts of sports.

The feeling of pride and achievement at winning, the disappointment at losing, are part of these gifts.

What is more heart-warming than to hear the encouraging shouts: Go, team, go! Fight, team, fight!

The dazzling run, the goal line stand, the long shot swishing through the net, the hard-hit ball that curves away from the outfielder!

But more than these is the spirit of the game: the will to win, the grit to see it thru to the end, whether winning or losing.

These I taught you and these I send forth with you.

During the 1959 season, the team participated in four meets. Many of the boys took first and second places in the various events. The team also took part in an invitational meet at Shaler High School.

The Fighting Rams of '59 posted the best record in the history of the school with 8 wins and 2 losses, reversing the record of last year. Rigorous practice by the team and the keen strategy of the coaches paid off in the win column and in the honors won by the team and its individual members. Richland rooters were afforded many exciting and breathless moments as the thrill of victory was offset with a few heart-breaking moments. Although next year brings another season, Richland fans will never forget the Fighting Rams of '59.

Although the Rams practiced diligently and played hard, they managed only a few victories in their 59-60 season. Captained by Stew Gloyer and Larry Sullivan and coached by Richard Dilts, the team swept to victories over Knoch, Verona, Aspinwall, West Deer, and Mars, our closest rival. The Rams dropped several games by a margin of less than ten points.

The Junior Varsity, coached by Keith Johns, managed several wins during the season and they did accomplish their purpose of providing experience for the boys who will make up next year's varsity.

The Girls basketball team, under the coaching of Mrs. Dolmayer and Miss Lois Danner, practiced enthusiastically in preparation for their clashes with Knoch, Aspinwall, and Mars. Co-captains for the Varsity were Kay Hauserman and Joyce Fusca, both seniors. Other girls playing their final season were Betsey Backman, Carol Bachman, and Fran Roman. The majority of these girls have played for six years.

The G.A.A. and Varsity Club worked diligently to earn money for the senior lettermen's awards. The girls were awarded white blazers with a special Richland emblem designed for them.

The Junior Varsity, consisting of sophomores and juniors, had a successful season. Co-captains were Carolyn Hay and Ginnie Stulen.

ACTIVITIES

A spirit of friendship, of learning, of pride is but one of the gifts that have come thru Activities.

But perhaps the most important thing is what you have given each other:

Pride in your Band and Chorus.

A sense of accomplishment in Student Council, G.A.A., or Varsity Club.

Working together to provide scholarships, produce plays, conduct programs.

Organizing dances and parties which have kindled many friendships.

Joining in clubs that have knitted all students together with the binding cord of a common goal.

Starting to organize as juniors, the yearbook staff worked long and hard preparing the Rambler. Meeting in people's homes, classrooms, and any other available space, editors picked the theme, cover, and general layout for the book.

Working with Mr. R. B. Lewis, yearbook advisor, and Mr. Knack, the photographer, editors of the various sections spent hours making layouts, cutting and pasting pictures, then typing the copy.

The business staff devoted long hours to getting subscriptions, figuring expenses, and combing the area for advertisements.

The editors agree that a yearbook is work, worry, and disappointments — but the results are very rewarding.

Getting The Green and White out of debt was the main task of co-editors, Mary Lou Gibson and Stewart Gloyer this year. With the assistance of Mr. D. K. Strayer, the staff held dances and sold green and white pins with Richland High School printed on them to obtain money.

The newspaper, consisting of four pages and containing pictures, club and school news, sports, editorials, and humor, was published once a month.

The work of the paper was divided between two staffs. The journalism staff wrote articles and the business staff sold the papers.

"I have examined the individual records of the work done in dramatics of these individuals, and I can vouch that each one has earned the points set up in the National Constitution and our own troupe constitution and is eligible for the honor of membership."

These are the words of the clerk as one becomes a member of the National Thespian Society.

Each member has worked his way up by starting in Dramatics Club and getting points. When a sufficient number of points have been earned, that person is eligible to become a Thespian.

Thespians lead the work done on this year's plays and aided in many other school productions. When they were given the opportunity, they went to see plays put on by various groups.

Each member is given a Thespian pin which he wears proudly as he remembers the Thespian motto, "Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

Each year any boy who has won at least one varsity letter will become a member of the Richland Varsity Club. From the beginning of the school year until the end, the Varsity Club is busy raising money for the club.

Money made by the club was distributed to the various athletic teams to help meet the cost of sports equipment. However, the primary function is to raise enough money to buy varsity jackets for all members to have earned them.

May Queen

Queen Sally Ewalt was crowned by retiring queen Bobbi Easter on May 1, 1959.

The girls in Queen Sally's court wore pastel-colored dresses of yellow, pink, orchid, and blue.

To honor the new queen, the girls of the 1958 court sang and the entire 1959 court danced a waltz. Entertainment was also provided by a dance team and a dance performed by a group of seventh grade girls.

The Majorettes, with their sharp marching and fancy twirling, performed at every pep rally and at all fooball games when weather permitted.

Along with the band, they performed in five parades, one band festival, and numerous booster meetings.

Because they practiced all year long, even during the summer, they were well qualified to represent our school when they entertained at one of the Steeler's games this year.

Remember When

Remember the first day . . . . . ?

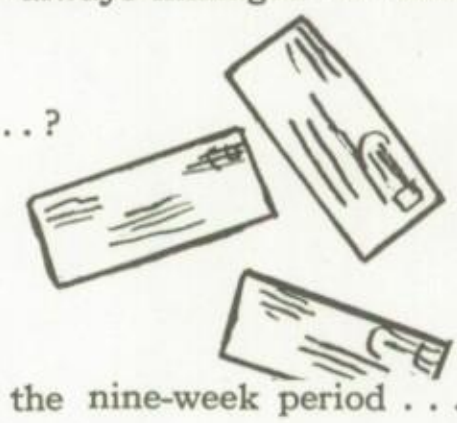
We never did decide if the boys won the race to lunch or the girls . . . .

Our first football team wasn't so good, but we improved and improved and this year we had an 8-2 record . . . . .

Remember the pajama parties where everyone stayed awake all night and sleep in class the next day?

Remember the songs, especially the novelties like "Mashed Potatoes" and "Charlie Brown."

Remember the wild Varsity-Faculty games, when the Varsity always managed to win . . . . . ?



Remember the post-season pep rally to honor the senior football players . . . . . ?

Remember the riotous class meetings we had . . . . . ?

Remember those friendly letters we got from Mr. Storkel in the middle of the nine-week period . . . . . ?

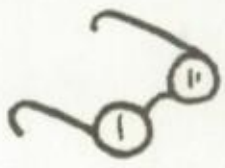
Remember the long lists of students who were called to the office between each class . . . . . ?

Remember the teacher who taught in rhythm with his knuckle cracking . . . . . ?

Remember the field trips we took and how much we learned . . . . . ?

Remember the day the juniors and seniors went fishing . . . . . ?

Remember the health classes when we ruined our backs sitting on the bleachers . . . remember when we didn't like the lecture on our side of the gym, we listened to the other class' . . . . . ?

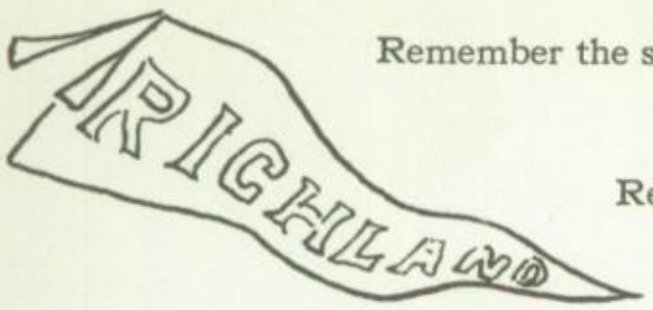


Remember the eye tests and the increase in glasses . . . . . ?

Remember the Junior-Senior picnic, and the fun we had playing ball, throwing eggs, eating, stealing baseballs?

Will you ever forget the basketball games and Mr. Dilts reactions—fury, sarcasam, disgust, and, once in a while, happiness . . . . . ?

Remember the Victory dances we had after the basketball games that we didn't win . . . . . ?



Remember the school spirit posters in the hall before every football game . . . . ?

Remember the pep rallies, pep pills, and Suzie, the broom . . . . . ?

Remember Stork . . . . . ?

Remember the wars between the commercials and the academics . . . . . ?

Remember the boxing show and the feature bout of the evening . . . . . ?

Remember those little blue slips and how we couldn't do a thing without them . . . . . ?

Remember the snow storms and how we hated missing those days of school . . . . . ?

Remember the term papers we did and the sleepy students the day they were due . . . . . ?

Remember our sixteenth birthday and how we sent for our driving permits right after breakfast . . . . . ?

Remember the day we got our class rings . . . . "My, its hot in here. I think I'll take off my ring" . . . . .

Remember the fun we had at lunch, trying to figure out what we were eat ing . . . . . ?

Remember the magazine campaign and the rainy nights we knocked on doors to earn money . . . . . ?

Remember the familiar faces we saw at Venus, as we sat for hours drinking a coke . . . . . ?

Remember the day we christened out cats . . . . . ?

Remember the time the drivers ed class ran out of gas . . . . . ?

Remember the vacations we had, and how we started counting the days until the next one . . . . . ?

Remember when spring finally came, and the absences among the boys . . . .

Junior High

Wonder-eyed, confused, and frightened are these of my world as they enter my arms.

They wonder at my opportunities, are confused with my jig-saw hallways and mixed-up schedules, scared stiff at the tall and mighty older students. But proud are these young ones, too, proud to be part of it all.

Proudly they rush from class to class, bumping into the lordly ones, who walk past leaving behind them those who dream of some day being a Senior at Richland High.
